

CANTONAL POLICE · SANKT OSWIN POST · CASE 36/1218

Envelope C

The search of the train

Keep this envelope sealed. Open it only when the game tells you to.

8 documents inside, C1 to C8

For whoever prints this: don't read the pages that follow. Slide them straight into an envelope with this sheet on top, and seal it.

Search of the compartments, 02:50 to 04:10

Carried out by me, with the chief conductor as witness. Each passenger was present for the search of their own compartment.

Car 2, no. 6: Mrs Margit Delorme

- Dressing case (unlocked): a small velvet-lined pistol box, empty. No pistol anywhere in the compartment.
- Window sill and lace curtain: fresh black soot. Soot smudges on the pillow. The compartment is noticeably colder than its neighbours.
- On the floor by the communicating door: two small white down feathers, like those from the pillow in no. 5.
- In the ashtray: a note torn into six pieces, one corner scorched, as if someone had begun to burn it and changed their mind (C8).
- A box of migraine powders, full; none taken on this journey.

Car 1, no. 3: Mr Raoul Delorme

- Three letters from creditors in Geneva and Monte Carlo.
- Half a bottle of cognac.
- On the pillow, a long fair hair: much too long to be his.

Car 2, no. 2: Mr Tomislav Barić

- A roll of watchmaker's picks and drivers.
- An envelope addressed to C. Delorme, still sealed, containing a copy of the court papers for Vienna.
- Photographs of a workshop, and of a clock in pieces.

Car 2, no. 4: Miss Constance Pryor

- A notebook in shorthand; a folder of press cuttings about radium poisoning among dial painters.
- A pencil sketch of the layout of compartment 5, with the dispatch case marked.
- A case of tortoiseshell hairpins with one missing. A tortoiseshell hairpin was found under Mr Delorme's berth in no. 5; it matches the others exactly.

Car 2, no. 7: Miss Klara Imhof

- Mr Delorme's correspondence portfolio, the letters written up and ready for signature.
- In her handbag, a small photograph of a young woman holding a baby. On the back: Klara, three months. Forgive me. — C. Dated 1908.

Car 2, no. 9: Baron Friedrich von Aschau

- Clothes, letters, and an Austrian passport issued in Innsbruck in December 1934 ("to replace one lost in an accident").
- A fur-collared overcoat on the hook. The fur was wet through at 02:55, as if from snow. He says he stepped down to take the air on the platform when the train stopped.
- A Spanish grammar, much thumbed, with exercises in pencil in the margins.

Attendant's cubicle, car 2: Emil Stoffel

- A half-bottle of grappa, a quarter full, behind the linen.

Compartment 5, the corridor door

With Mr Barić's own picks and his permission, I tried to lift the safety chain from the corridor side. It cannot be done: the chain sits in a slot that cannot be reached from outside. The attendant's key opens the lock, but not the chain.

DR MED. URSINA CAFLISCHPhysician · Sankt Oswin*

---

Examination of the body of Casimir Delorme*Examined 19 December 1936, 00:55, compartment 5, sleeping car 2Cause of death A single gunshot wound to the head

The shot was fired with the muzzle pressed into a pillow held over the face. The pillow is scorched and torn, and feathers were caught in his hair. A small bullet of 6.35 mm calibre was recovered from the mattress. Death was instantaneous. He did not struggle; I think he was asleep.

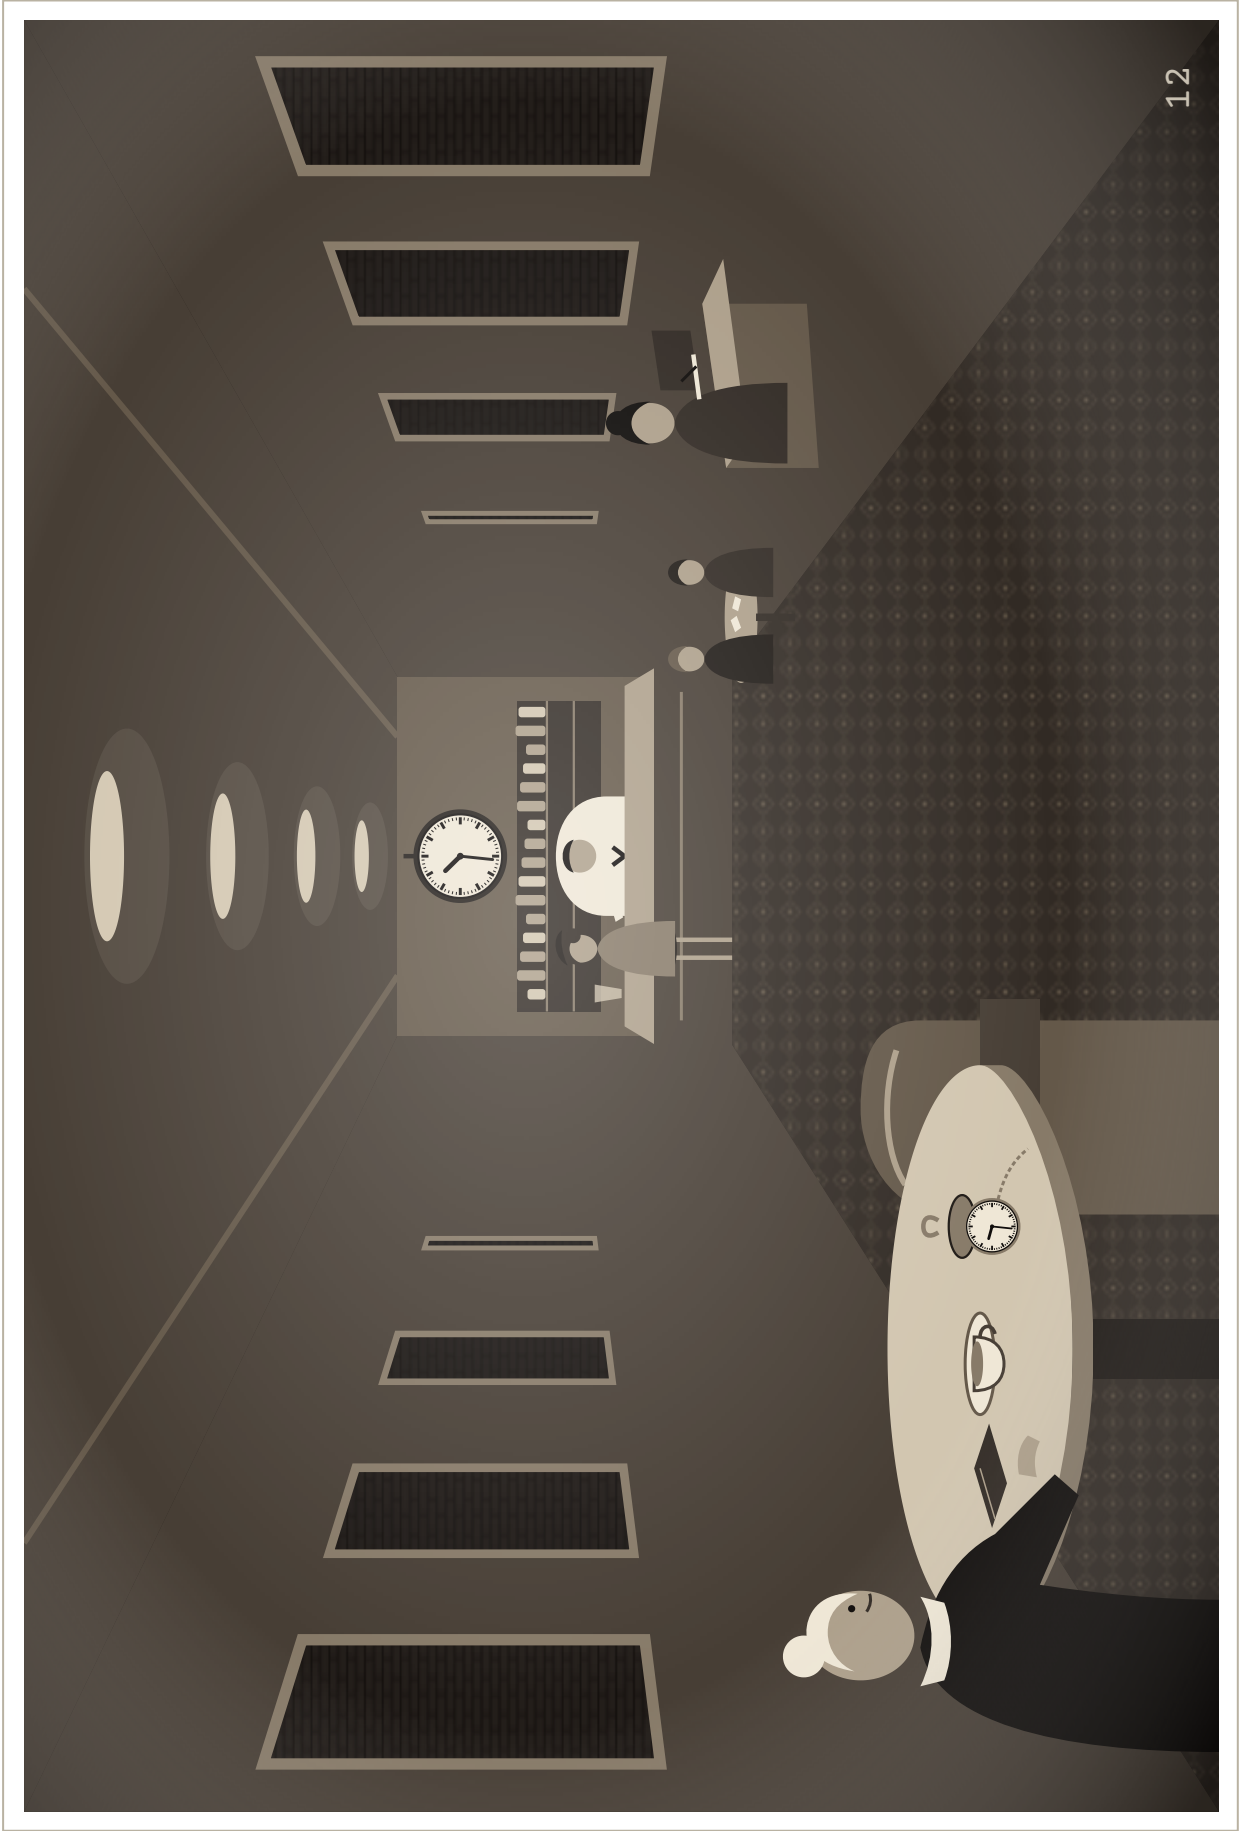

No powder marks on his hands, and no weapon: this was not suicide.

The glass on the table held Vichy water with traces of veronal, an ordinary sleeping dose. It would have made him drowsy within a quarter of an hour, and asleep soon after. It played no part in his death.

Time of death. The body was still warm when I arrived, and stiffening had not begun. But the compartment was heated to 26 degrees, which slows the cooling. On the body alone I can say no more than this: between 22:00 and 23:30. If you want it closer, you will have to find it on the train, not in him.

U. Caflisch

Plate 12, exposed by Otto Kessler at 22:31 in the salon car, while the train was in the Grauhorn Tunnel. Developed tonight in the darkroom of the Sankt Oswin pharmacy. The camera stood at the end of the car by the door to car 2. A magnifying glass helps.

Plate book of Otto Kessler, *Die Woche im Bild

Friday 18 December 1936. "My watch was set by the station clock at Basel."

| PLATE | TIME  | SUBJECT                                                                                                              |
|-------|-------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7     | 19:38 | Basel. Customs officers in the corridor of car 2.                                                                    |
| 8     | 20:02 | Dining car, first sitting. General view.                                                                             |
| 9     | 20:24 | Dining car. The Delorme table; the baron raising his glass.                                                          |
| 10    | 21:48 | Salon car. The piano, nobody at it.                                                                                  |
| 11    | 22:26 | Dining car pantry. The chef and a sleeping-car attendant raise a glass "to the Grauhorn".                            |
| 12    | 22:31 | Salon car, general view, in the tunnel. Developed; see C3.                                                    |
| 13    | 23:34 | Salon car. Two card players. Fogged; nothing to see.                                                          |
| 14    | 00:12 | Sankt Oswin station in the snow. A man in a fur collar at the door of the station office. Badly underexposed. |
| 15    | 01:20 | Compartment 5, for the police. See A3.                                                                        |

I left the dining car with my camera at about 22:28 and walked through to the salon car for plate 12. — O. K.

Bar chits, salon car, Friday 18 December

Every chit is stamped by the bar's time clock, which the barman sets each evening by the railway clock above the bar. Guests sign with their name, car and compartment.

|                                                                                                                                      |                                                                                                            |                                                                                                          |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| No. 31 21:36 table 6 2 kirsch Aebi (1/2)                                            | No. 33 21:58 table 6 2 beers Aebi (1/2)                   | No. 34 22:05 writing desk 1 black coffee K. Imhof (2/7) |
| No. 36 22:18 bar 1 gin fizz C. Pryor (2/4)                                          | No. 38 22:20 table 4 1 camomile tisane H. Duclos (2/3)    | No. 40 22:30 bar 1 gin fizz C. Pryor (2/4)              |
| No. 41 22:40 table 6 2 beers Oberholzer (1/5)                                       | No. 43 22:52 writing desk 1 glass of water K. Imhof (2/7) | No. 45 23:05 table 2 1 kirsch O. Kessler (1/6)          |
| No. 47 23:17 table 4 1 cognac (Martell) 1 camomile tisane F. v. Aschau (2/9) | No. 48 23:26 table 6 2 beers Aebi (1/2)                   | No. 50 23:44 table 2 1 black coffee O. Kessler (1/6)    |

Night log, sleeping car 1

Kept by Anton Brändli, attendant, at his seat by the gangway to car 2. The Company requires every attendant to note who passes at night.

| TIME            | ENTRY                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 21:30           | Messrs Aebi (2) and Oberholzer (5) to the salon car.                                                                                                                              |
| 21:32           | Mr R. Delorme (3) toward car 2.                                                                                                                                                   |
| 21:40           | Mr Kessler (6) toward the salon car with his camera.                                                                                                                              |
| 21:55           | Mr R. Delorme back to no. 3.                                                                                                                                                      |
| 22:00           | Beds made up in no. 8 for the two detectives. Lights out in no. 8.                                                                                                                |
| 22:05           | A lady in a silver-fur wrap came from car 2 and went up the corridor. I was at the linen cupboard with my back half turned: I did not see her face, or which door she went in by. |
| 22:15           | Mr Barić (car 2) through to the luggage van.                                                                                                                                      |
| 22:24-22:35 | Grauhorn Tunnel.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| 22:38           | Mr Barić back from the luggage van, toward car 2.                                                                                                                                 |
| 22:52           | The lady in the silver fur came back down the corridor and went through to car 2.                                                                                                 |
| 23:40           | Messrs Aebi and Oberholzer back from the salon car.                                                                                                                               |
| 23:50           | Mr Kessler back from the salon car.                                                                                                                                               |
| 00:10           | Stoffel (car 2) came running for the chief conductor.                                                                                                                             |
| 00:12           | Mr Kessler out to the platform with his camera.                                                                                                                                   |

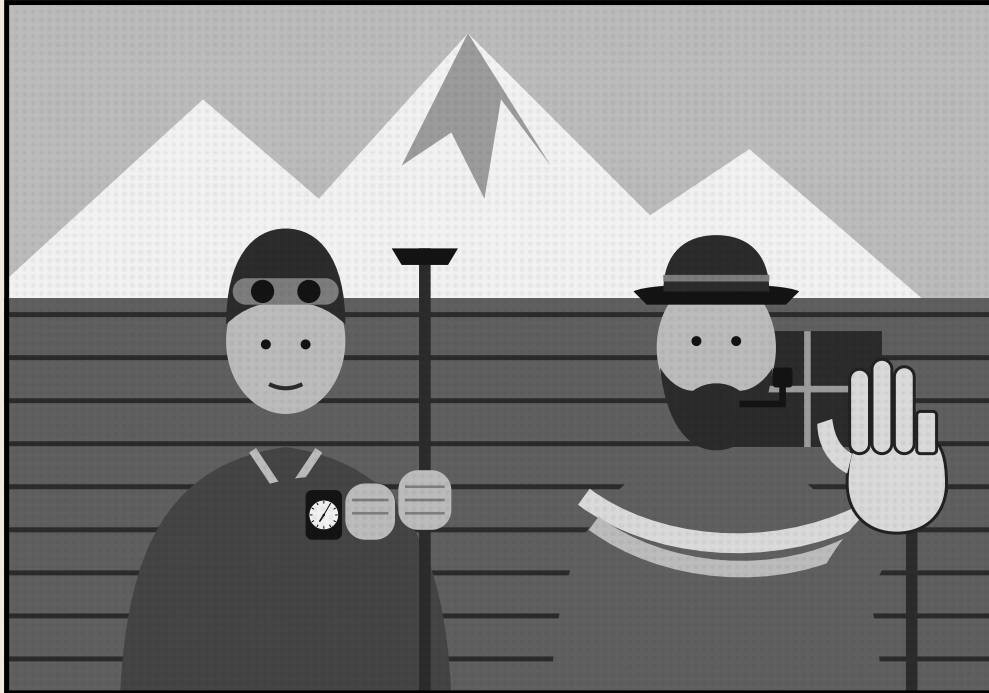

Between 21:55 and 22:52 nobody passed my seat except as written here. No one went from car 1 into car 2 but the lady and Mr Barić. — A. Brändli

Der Alpenbote

Chur · Tuesday 21 August 1934 · No. 196 · 20 Rappen

Tragedy on the Grauhorn

Sankt Oswin guide killed; Austrian baron survives fall from the north face

Baron Friedrich von Aschau (left) and his guide Kaspar Gredig at the Grauhorn hut on Sunday morning, before the climb. Photograph: A. Bundi, Sankt Oswin.

On Sunday the well-known Sankt Oswin guide Kaspar Gredig, 34, lost his life on the north face of the Grauhorn (3,412 m) while leading Baron Friedrich von Aschau of Innsbruck.

According to the baron, the two men were roped together below the summit ridge when a cornice gave way at about eleven in the morning. Both fell some 300 metres. Rescuers from Sankt Oswin reached them on Monday.

The baron, found conscious but badly hurt, with injuries to his face and his left hand, was carried down the valley on a stretcher and taken to hospital in Innsbruck. He was able to give his name to the rescuers but, we are told, little else.

The guide's body, recovered late on Monday, was so badly disfigured that "his own mother would not have known him", one rescuer told this newspaper. Gredig, who was unmarried and whose mother died last year, had guided on the Grauhorn since 1922. He lost the tip of a finger to frostbite in 1929 but had never had an accident with a client.

He will be buried in Sankt Oswin on Saturday.

(Translated from the German. Pinned up in the waiting room of Sankt Oswin station, where Gredig's picture still hangs.)

Found in the ashtray of compartment 6, torn into six pieces. One corner is scorched, as if someone began to burn it and lost their nerve.

Cut out the six pieces along their torn edges, shuffle them, and put the note back together.